AMERICANS ON NORTH FRONT

NEW FORCES ASSIGNED FOR FINAL TOUCHES IN TRAINING FOR SERVICE.

(By the Associated Press)

With American Army in France, May 17.—Troops of the new American army have arrived within the zone of British forces in Northern France and are now completing their training in the area occupied by troops which are blocking the path of the Germans to the channel ports. The American troops referred to as "new American army" in dispatches today reporting their arrival within the zone of British operations in France, are forces being brigaded with the British, probably on the Flanders front. They are not troops detached from Pershing's present forces, but are part of the new movement of troops from the United States forecast by Premier Lloyd George some time ago.

J. A. DORSEY ANSWERS LAST ROLL CALL.

J. A. Dorsey, aged 74, died Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, at his home, 219 West 15th street. The funeral services will be held from the family residence this afternoon at 5 o'clock, conducted by Rev. G. W. Beck, pastor of the Presbyterian church of which deceased was a faithful member. Mr. Dorsey was a pioneer of this part of the state, having come to the Indian Territory 22 years ago. He was a citizen whose voice and influence were on the side of right and his long life was full of usefulness. Deceased was a native of Tennessee and when the civil war broke out enlisted in the Confederate army and served his country well. He has always taken an active interest in matters pertaining to the veterans of the war and was adjutant of the Ada camp. Mr. Dorsey is survived by his wife and seven children.

"My Four Years in Germany."

From Ambassador Gerard's Book. Although without doubt Germany knows America through its policy of intrigue and spying, it knows little of Americans as is proven by the entire mistaken policy of Germany with a nation that strove to keep its neutrality until its patience was entirely exhausted. When you see in the feature photograph production of Ambassador Gerard's "My Four Years in Germany," the representative of Kultur in the person of the Kaiser as he shook his finger under the nose of our ambassador with the expressed warning that "he would stand no nonsense from America after the war," you will better understand the reasons for America's present position in the world conflict.

The insolent treatment of our ambassador by the Kaiser, theoretically tantamount to the latter's shaking his finger in the face of our president and of our nation, with which he was not even then at war, is only one of the long series of incidents which are only appreciated at their true value when seen in sequence as they have been seen by the ambassador himself.

"My Four Years in Germany" is a big dramatic production that will give Americans a better understanding of the most important page in world history. It will be shown at the Majestic two days, Friday and Saturday, May 24-25.

A pleasant surprise is to see how we have changed our store into three classy departments, viz: Shoes, Ladies' Ready-to-Wear and Gents' Furnishings.—Burk's. 5-17-2t

MAY MEAN START OF NEW DRIVE

HEAVY ARTILLERY FIRE OF GERMANS MAY BE FIRST MOVE IN ATTACK.

(By the Associated Press)

Germany still hesitates to renew heavy fighting on the main western front battle fields, but an increase in aerial and artillery activity is taken to indicate that infantry fighting on a more extensive scale than in the past two weeks may again be progressing soon. Allied and German gunners are harassing opposing lines and the fighting continues most marked on the front north of the Lys river. In Flanders and south of the Somme in Picardy fifty-six German airplanes are reported accounted for in recent aerial fighting by British and French pilots. No infantry activity, except for patrol raids, on any of the long fronts from the North sea to Switzerland.

Italian success in gaining the summit of Monte Corno has been followed by operations against Monte Asolone just east of the Brenta river. Austrian trenches were entered at two places.

ARTILLERY FIRE MORE INTENSE

GERMANS ACTIVELY SHELLING ALLIED LINES AT SEVERAL POINTS.

(By the Associated Press)

London, May 17.—German artillery fire is increasingly active from Locon to Hinges along the western side of the Flanders salient, and between the forest of Nieppe and Metteren on the northern side of the salient, the war office announces. A hostile raiding party was repulsed last night in Moyenville neighborhood south of Arras.

French Raid German Lines.
Paris, May 17.—Violent artillery fighting in Hallies region, southeast of Amiens, is reported in today's official statement. In local operations around Mesnil, St. Georges and south of Mont Didier, French detachments penetrated the German lines at two points bringing back about forty prisoners including an officer, the statement adds. Elsewhere the night passed in quiet.

ADA'S BEST INVESTMENT

Ada's best investment is here splendid outlay of public schools, and corps of efficient teachers. This is EVERY CITY'S best investment. Without them, they would remain villages, or become maelstroms of crime and ignorance.

The growing condition of our schools, make it imperative that an additional levy over the constitutional five mills be voted each year, to carry on the schools. Next year, we are asked to vote the highest tax possible ever asked—that is an additional 5 mills. This was made necessary by a raise in the salaries of every teacher of the schools, as well as the janitors and clerk. This raise was ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY, if we are to have school next year, and the board had no discretion and no choice but to grant the raise. And yet with the additional raise in salaries, we are asking for an additional levy of only 3 mills over the voted levy of last year.

Some citizens have stated they would not vote the levy this year because of the great variance in the item of the budget styled "For Salaried Employees and Clerical Help," of this coming year, over that of last year. Last year, this item was for only $600.00, whereas for next year, the item is for $4050.00. The great difference in this item between the next year and last year is this: last year, this item included only the salary of the secretary of the board, at $50.00 per month, or $600.00, whereas for next year, this item includes the salary of the secretary and four janitors at increased salaries. Some citizens might inquire "What is the necessity of having a salaried secretary of the Board?" and for answer to that question, please call at the office of the Board in the Simpson building, stay an hour any day, and see for yourself how the secretary more than earns and saves her salary. VOTE THE TAX! The members of the Board of Education will have to pay it, same as you. They give their services to the school district free, and are in position to KNOW what is needed.

The Oklahoma remarks that Pontotoc county disregarded the rules for the Red Cross campaign by pulling it off a week ahead of schedule. It is a pity that others do not occasionally violate rules in the same manner. The fact is that Pontotoc was no holding this live bunch down. They had to go. It will also be remembered that Pontotoc went over the top in the Liberty Loan in two or three days, while Oklahoma City and other places had to hustle for several days longer to reach their quotas. You can count on old Pontotoc every time, for her people are the most progressive in Oklahoma and are always ready to do their part in any patriotic or public enterprise.

The earnings of the railroads under government supervision show a marked decrease although many high salaried offices have been abolished, other economies effected and the rates have advanced rather than reduced. Doesn't look very favorable for continued government operation after the war, as advocated by some.

PUTTING WASTE INTO PORK.

An Oklahoma boy, named Wickett, now a soldier at Camp McClellan, has a plan by which the government can save a large sum of money and substantially increase our food production. He estimates that the waste at the average camp of 30,000 would feed 1,500 hogs. This refuse is now disposed of in incinerators. The proposition is to turn into pork what is now going into ashes.

Private Wickett, it should be explained, was a farmer before he entered the service. He managed a big stock farm. His experience has been such as to give weight to his recommendation. He knows what he is talking about. He understands the business of hog-raising.

As an evidence of the practicality of Wickett's suggestion it may be said that at one camp a proposition was made to pay $100,000 a year for the mess waste. The men who made the offer intended to use the waste for feeding hogs. Now, if this feed supply is worth $100,000 in a private concern it ought to be worth quite as much to the government. As a matter of fact it ought to be worth a good deal more, for the private concern, of course, expected to make a profit on the business.

Suppose the average value of this refuse for hog feeding is $150,000 for each camp. There are thirty-two of those camps. That would mean a yearly revenue of $4,800,000. Such a sum is decidedly worth saving. But it is more than a saving. It would mean a big increase in our production of pork, which is among the first essential war foods.

We have got to produce food. Every additional dollar's worth of food that is raised is a direct contribution to winning the war. There is a plan for raising approximately $5,000,000 worth of food. The only thing necessary to do is to put into pigs the camp refuse which now goes into the fire.

Some may wonder whether camp sanitation would be affected if the waste were carted away instead of burned. There is no reason why it should. Camp garbage can be collected just as city garbage is. Indeed, it can be done much more easily. It would simply be a case of management.

It would be managed well. It would be done under the rigid precision of military schedule. The hog farm would be miles away from the camp.

There may be a question as to which would be the better plan—to sell the refuse to private concerns, or the camps to manage the hog farms. It does seem as if one of those plans should be adopted without delay. It has been said that the last loaf of bread will win the war. That, of course, is a figure of speech. But adding $5,000,000 worth of food a year to our present production from a source of supply that is now being burned up, is a figure of speech. It is an important fact and a vital duty.—Oklahoma.

The young man named above is a Pontotoc county boy, having been manager of the Blue Valley farm at Roff prior to the breaking out of the war. He has started something that may become an important matter at all army camps.

PASSING OF JOHN BARLEYCORN.

Gradually John Barleycorn is passing from this earth to another sphere. His course has about been run and he lies down to die the death of the drunkard, unhonored and unsung—no, he is not unsung either. There are those who sing of his death but sing of it in a jocular way. There are no tears shed over his death. There are many smiles, even from his staunchest supporters.

The passing of the famous John from Michigan was the occasion for much rejoicing and much comment. Probably the best thing said about him appeared in the Detroit Times on May 1, the day of the funeral:

John Barleycorn has had the decency to croak in twenty-eight states, and there is a deep-seated desire to see the thing become epidemic, in keeping with the old refrain—"There was a dog and his name was Rover."

And when he died all over. We hope the states will continue to gather in the Barleycorn kin until we get the "whole damn family" planted.

The earthly record of the deceased was such that we do not envy the funeral orator his task. He will have to emulate the wisdom of the officiating pastor who was asked what in the world he could say at the obsequies of a defunct reprobate who beat his wife and side-stepped his debts. He answered, "Dead easy. I'll speak of the glorious age in which he lived."

All we can indite about the now pulseless John Barleycorn is that he lived in a glorious age—which he betrayed, shamed, and defiled.

He was full of years—as well as of other things. He began with Michigan's beginning, alack!

A historian deposes and says that when the United States and Canada kissed the result was Michigan.

Both parents must have been drinking, for John Barleycorn, the first-born, was an inebriate from birth—a sad instance of transmitted iniquity, cursed by the serpent of the still.

He was not uncomely in youth, and he made himself useful on occasions. He claimed to be good for sickness and low spirits.

Being a pioneer and a money-maker, he gathered petitions and newspaper supporters about him. He entered homes, banquets, and armies as a friend. He claimed protection and permanence as a vital business institution.

When bold, outspoken men and women denounced him for sipping plenty from firesides, the glow from women's cheeks, strength from manhood, integrity from legislators and mayors, he and his hirelings drowned their brave protesting voices with cries of "fanatics!" "personal liberty!" and the like.

And John Barleycorn lived on, rearing a frightful progeny. Of the evil brood disease, superstition, insanity, prostitution, poverty, degeneracy, boozism were well-known offspring, spreading over the land like blight.

But there came a day when the keeper of the tap-house trembled, for the people rose up like a strong man after sleep.

Legitimate business bade John Barleycorn be gone; industry denounced him as an Old Man of the Sea on its shoulders; and Army and Navy of the United States drummed him out of camp with "traitor," branded upon his forehead.

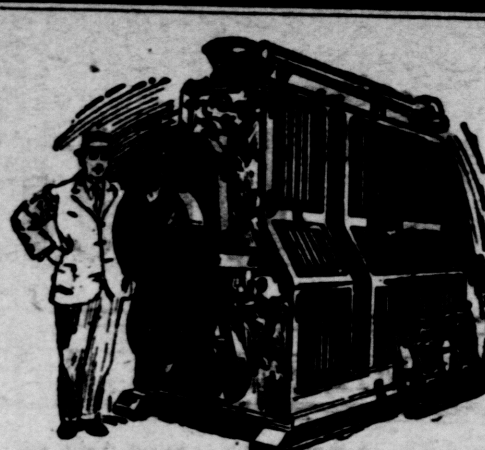

It was really merciful—more merciful than he ever was to his millions of victims—to sentence John Barleycorn to death. The world was getting to be a mighty lonesome place for him.

Friendly faces were few; and their sincerity questionable. As he walked alone, grim specters of his miserable past confronted him.

So it behooved John Barleycorn to wall, "I'm only in the way," and to go off and die, leaving the sunshine of a better day to disinfect the place where his festering carcass lay.

possibly been classified too low. A committee was appointed to take it up with the proper authority and additional evidence was given. As a result the case will be given over to the district exemption board for further action. Either the classification will be affirmed and the citizens will realize the boys are in the right place, or the classification will be raised.

And this all recalls the fact that the selection law is about the fairest law every enacted relative to military service. In the first place, there is no way of a person getting out of service as a result of political pull or the power of money. The private secretary of one of the members of the president's cabinet could not get out of service. There is no government appointment that will get a man out of service in the trenches. In the trenches millionaires and moneyless boys fight side by side, all having gone in the selected class.

The County Council of Defense is anxious that no mistakes be made. The executive committee will put forth every effort to correct any mistake that may have crept in, and there doubtless have been mistakes. J. F. McKeel, the government appeal agent, collects the additional information and turns it over to the district boards where the matter is settled purely upon its merits.

CANADIAN SOLDIER TELLS OF THE WAR

The Normal auditorium was crowded yesterday afternoon to listen to the address of Private Menzes of the Canadian army—who but recently has returned from the battle front—on the great work of the Red Cross. This was the third active participant who has addressed audiences in Ada, and neither of the two who preceded Menzes presented a more gripping story of real life along the battle front.

The meeting was called to order by President Gordon who introduced Hon. Robt. Wimbish as chairman, and who, in turn, stated briefly the record of the speaker. Menzes enlisted from Saskatchewan in Sept., 1914 and after a few months training in England was sent to France in 1915. For nearly two years he followed the British Jack with the 16th Canadian regiment, having participated in the battle of Vimy Ridge and other sanguinary encounters in northern France. Near Ypres he lost his right leg, and received several other minor wounds at the time his leg was shattered.

The speaker told a most gripping story. He made no attempt at oratory—never having made a speech before in his life until today—speaking to a large crowd at Wewoka in the forenoon. Most of the time during his portrayal of the incidents of his trench life he sat on a desk on the platform. He told vividly of his encounter with the Boches, the marvelous charge of the Canadian khaki boys at Vimy Ridge—the glory of which will live as long as Canadian history is written—the wonderful moral of those soldiers as they waited the minute when they could get after the Hun. He related several interesting experiences and all were told in such simple language, with such evident sincerity that his talk was listened to with rapt attention. The audience was patriotically pleased at many references to the killing of the Boches, and the speaker was repeatedly cheered.

He portrayed the work of the Red Cross, stressing its activities in the war zone and pleaded for all the funds possible to relieve the suffering of those gallant American boys who will soon need succor from the organization. That phase of the address left a lasting impression, for it was told by one who had passed through the trials, had endured the great hardships, had nearly made the great sacrifice and who made the appeal in such simple words that all could understand.

Private Menzes may not have oratorical powers, as we understand the term, but he is a most convincing speaker—manly in look, the very picture of health, with the peculiar accent of a Kanuck and an absent limb that tells a story of sacrifice for the cause that we will give our all, if needs be, to make the world safe for democracy.

A SUCCESSOR TO GLENN CLARK ELECTED

President Gordon returned yesterday from Oklahoma City where he attended a meeting of the State Board of Education. In addition to electing the present members of the faculty for another year one of the important things to be considered was the selection of a successor to Professor Glenn Clark, who has been head of the mathematics department and has had charge of the athletics for the past five years. Professor R. S. Newcomb, who is now finishing his master's degree in the University of Oklahoma, was selected for the position. Newcomb is a graduate of the Springfield, Missouri, State Normal School and has had one year's work at the University of Missouri. He holds a fellowship this year at the University of Oklahoma and is recommended very highly by the University authorities. He has had a number of years' experience as a rural school teacher, principal of high school, and superintendent of schools. He has played on the teams in basketball, baseball, and football, was president of the tennis club, and champion player for two years in the State Normal School where he was graduated. He has also successfully coached teams in these forms of athletics with splendid success.

Mr. Newcomb is a man of pleasing appearance and it is confidently believed he will add strength to the already strong faculty of East Central Normal. Mr. and Mrs. Newcomb will not move to Ada until the latter part of the summer, as he will spend the summer in the University of Oklahoma. Professor E. C. Wilson will be assistant coach in athletics. The public will be interested to know that a universal raise of ten per cent was given the teachers of the Normal School. No raise was made in the president's salary, but it is proposed to build a home on the campus for the president.

HOW GERMANS ARE "PACIFYING" RUSSIA.

London, May 17.—A Russian government wireless received here today reveals the full horror of the German atrocities in White Russia. It says that trustworthy witnesses told of the violence of the pogroms, tortures, executions and savage methods of dealing with the working classes. "In the Bokrinsk district," the dispatch says, "entire villages have been set afire and plundered. In the village of Buda, a Uhlan patrol extorted several thousand rubles and when the peasants had paid part of it and unable to pay more the Uhlans bombarded the village. "In other villages, women and children, who endeavored to escape from fire were pursued by Uhlans and cut to pieces with swords or flogged with whips. In one village an old Jew was first flogged and then hanged in the presence of all the villagers. Most savage acts were perpetrated in Jewish villages. "All persons suspected of belonging to the Bolsheviks and those in military uniforms were immediately shot. A further group of facts concerns violence done by the white guards, allies of the German authorities, to the Russian inhabitants of Finland, especially in Viborg. "At Viborg one witness saw two hundred corpses, mainly Russian officers and mere school boys. Accord-

DR. WILEY SUGGESTS ELECTRIC FAN FOR BABY

This authority on food and health, discussing in Good Housekeeping, means for reducing infant mortality, said:

"... the fan is an excellent apparatus for mitigating the suffering from heat. Air in motion carries away rapidly from the body, heat that it absorbs or that is radiated into it. No cooling process of this kind can diminish the natural warmth of the body, but it can minimize the discomfort that the infant must endure from stagnant air. It is well that the current of the fan be not directly on the infant's body, but over it or to one side."

REV. JAS. HAMILTON ENDORSES TANLAC

DECLARES HEALTH IS RESTORED AFTER EIGHTEEN YEARS OF SUFFERING.

"I want to add my testimony to the value of Tanlac above any other medicine I have ever tried," said Rev. James Hamilton, a retired Methodist minister and former missionary to Brazil, residing on Ellis street, R. F. D. No. 9, Box 648, Dallas, Texas, recently.

"I always enjoyed robust health," Rev. Hamilton continued, "until about eighteen years ago. After spending several years in Brazil my digestive organs got out of order and I began having burning pains in my stomach. My nerves also became upset and I got to where I couldn't sleep well. This condition gradually grew worse until I would have to sit up in bed nearly all night. I became so nervous I was afraid to ride horseback to my appointments, and for weeks at a time I never slept a dozen hours a week. I tried many medicines but continued to lose flesh and strength rapidly.

"Finally my condition became so serious that I was compelled to give up and when I came to Dallas eight years ago I weighed only one hundred and thirty pounds and was a complete nervous and physical wreck. I was so weak the least little exertion would exhaust me. When Tanlac came here I watched the testimonials closely. Finally I noticed a similar case to mine and although I was shy about trying patent medicines, I got me a bottle and found so much benefit that I kept right on with the treatment until I took six bottles and felt that my health was fully restored. This was nine months ago and since then—even during the heat of the summer—I have had a better appetite and enjoyed my food more than I have in seventeen years. I now weigh one hundred and eighty-seven pounds. So by the help of Tanlac I have regained my health and strength and if I can help others to find relief by my statement I am only too glad of the opportunity."

Tanlac is sold in Ada by Gwin & Mays Drug Company, and by leading druggists and dealers everywhere. Adv.

GERMAN CLUB ACTIVE AT CHIHUAHUA

(By the Associated Press)

Chihuahua City, Mex., May 17.—What was once the Foreign Club and a gathering place for nationals from many countries has become, in fact, a German club since the United States went into the war. German is now heard more often around the tables or at the bar of the club than is English.

There are few Americans now living here and fewer still of other nationalities other than Germans. The result has been that these Germans, aided by the Austrians, have gained control of the once popular Foreign Club and use it as a gathering place to discuss the war news and to drink toasts to the Kaiser and his generals. Strange Germans arrive from the south wearing cotton drill suits and Panama hats, are registered at the club under fictitious names, confer with the local German-Austrian colony and then disappear again.

The few remaining Americans realize that these men are agents of the German imperial government carrying out special missions but are powerless to interfere with their operations. The Germans are said to have some form of "underground" news arrangement by which they receive accounts of the fighting on the western front and celebrate any German advance with beer and wine parties in the club lounge room. It is believed that they receive secret wireless information from Mexico City as their news of the German advance is always a day in advance of news received from the American border cities.

HEAVY DECREASE IN DENMARK'S HOG SUPPLY

(By the Associated Press)

Copenhagen, May 17.—Denmark's stock of swine, which amounted to about 2,500,000 head at the outbreak of the war, has now dropped to 400,000, according to latest estimates. Further serious inroads on this stock are being compelled by the impossibility of importing fodder, principally corn. In 1913 Denmark's total exports of pork were nearly 250,000 tons, of which just under one-half went to England. All exports have now been stopped, and the outlook for supplying the domestic consumption's requirements will be dark if the war continues much longer.

Dizziness, vertigo, (blind staggers) shallow complexion, flatulence are symptoms of a torpid liver. No one can feel well while the liver is inactive. HERBINE is a powerful liver stimulant. A dose or two will cause all bilious symptoms to disappear. Try it. Price 60c. Sold by Bart Smith.

RAGGED DOLL FROM WAR ZONE DOING MISERABLE WORK

(By the Associated Press)

St. Catherine, Ont., May 17.—Lieutenant Jack O'Brien has brought a battle scarred doll from shell-torn France to freedom, although the doll's seven year old "mamma" lies in a roughly made grave, a victim of German ruthlessness. The lieutenant who is on leave from the French foreign legion to do recruiting service in Canada, is using the doll in his campaign for new soldiers.

"This doll," says the veteran of many battles, "was handed to me one day in France by a little brown-eyed, curly-haired girl while the Germans were sweeping toward the village in which the child lived.

"I want you to take my dolly to freedom," she said as her baby arms tenderly extended this ragged little sawdust doll to me.

"By terrific fighting the Germans drove our forces from the village. Later, when we counter-attacked and regained the town, it was a scene of declaration, the bodies of soldiers and civilians filling the streets.

"Among the dead was the little doll-mother who wanted her 'baby' to have the freedom of which she had been robbed.

"I buried her in the village from which the Germans had been unable to drive her, and promised myself that I would indeed 'take dolly to freedom.'"

At Christian Church.
Last Sunday was a great day of rejoicing at the Christian church. Our morning service in memory and honor of our parents was one long to be remembered. The day was all the more enjoyable to the pastor because mother was with us for a visit. Two fathers, three mothers and one young lady came in response to our invitation. All enjoyed the fellowship at the Red Cross meeting at the Methodist church in the evening.

We enjoyed very much the trip to Stratford Sunday afternoon where we addressed the graduating class of the high school.

Remember, we will not have regular church services either morning or evening next Sunday. The pastor preaches the sermon for the graduating class of our high school at the Methodist church. In the evening, as has always been our custom, we will dismiss our service for the exercises at the normal.

OFFICIAL FOOD NEWS OF FEDERAL FOOD ADMINISTRATION

CARROLL S. MOORE

Director of Education
Oklahoma City

FAIR PRICE COMMITTEE PLANNED FOR COUNTIES

JUDGE AMES NAMES STATE COMMITTEE; FOOD PRICE LIST TO BE PUBLISHED.

In the hope of keeping the price of food and feed at a reasonable cost throughout the state, Judge C. B. Ames, Federal Food Administrator for Oklahoma, will name a fair price committee for each county. The duty of this committee is to work in conjunction with the county food administrators in keeping published a price list of foods and feeds.

This price list will not necessarily be what the dealers are charging, but what they ought to charge. In appointing these committees it is the aim of Judge Ames to have men of high standing in each county, who will be generally recognized as fair and whose recommendations of price will carry sufficient weight to influence the dealers to observe them. Each county food administrator has been asked to recommend for appointment four men, one of whom will represent the agricultural interests, one the laboring interest, one the retailers, and the fourth, one of general weight and standing in the community.

Judge Ames has appointed a state committee to advise with the county committee in matters in which they are interested. John Fields of Oklahoma City is chairman, and the other members of the committee are: Carl Williams, Oklahoma City; C. H. Hyde, Alva; Stratton D. Brooks, Norman; Tom Hale, McAlester; J. W. Cantwell, Stillwater; O. E. Upp, Tulsa; Edgar Fenton, Lehigh; T. H. Beacom, El Reno.

SUGAR FOR CANNING PURPOSES ASSURED

That the Food Administration intends to see to it that there is sugar sufficient for canning purposes this spring, is indicated by action of Judge Ames in sending out 200,000 cards to every county in the state to ascertain the amount of sugar to be needed for this purpose. Each family will be asked to fill out the card and it will be returned to Judge Ames. He will then know how much sugar is needed for canning and arrangements will be made for getting it to the state. Each family agrees to return all sugar asked for which is not used for canning.

The Food Administration is concerned that there should be no profiteering in ice in Oklahoma this summer and that especially that the cost of ice to the domestic consumer should not be increased over last year, unless absolutely necessary. All ice dealers in the state have been notified that they are required to file with the state food administrator any proposed schedule of increase, and that such increases cannot take effect until after investigation by the state food administrator. The tendency to make unreasonably lower prices to commercial users than to domestic consumers should be avoided, as it might constitute unfair practice within the meaning of this act.

The Food Administration is extremely desirous of securing economy in the consumption of all kinds of meat without the re-installation of the meatless day for the present. The necessities for shipment abroad to our army and the Allies are very large and amount to, roughly, 75,000,000 pounds of meat and meat products of all kinds per week, as against a pre-war normal of less than 15,000,000 pounds.

Contracts for sale of dried peaches, apples, prunes or raisins from new crop fruits cannot be made before June 1, the Food Administration has announced. The change was announced in the belief that the delay would allow the various interests affected voluntarily to agree upon a reasonable basis on which business could be done, protecting the producers, manufacturers and consumers. Heretofore, dried fruits have been offered for sale as early as the first of the year. The Food Administration believes that by prohibiting such a practice it will eliminate to a great extent the speculative dealing encouraged by sales for future delivery of crops that do not actually exist when the contract is made.
